"As Fine a Whisky As I Ever Drank."

AS I EVEF DIABLE.

So say the majority of those who try our "Tenessee." One of 'hose scarce whiskles whose use never gives a "head" or any other disagreeable experience! A genume Lincoln county product, and so good a liquid as to endanger Kentucky's reputation for preducing the best whiskles. No harshness or "bite" to it, but so smooth and mellow as to win the liking of the most fasticious drinker. No medicine in the wall can best it as a remedy for throat and lung troubles. It's the best kind of a "medicine chest" to keep in the house. We ask $1 for a large be'tle, 75c a pint and 40c, a half pint. Order it after laying down this paper. ROCKVILLE, Md., March 9, 1899. Secretary Burdette has been directed by the board of county school commissioners to request the board of county commissioners to appropriate the sum of $1,000 for the improvement of the Rockville colored school building. At the last session of the legislature, through the efforts of Delegate G. M. Anderson, a bill was passed "authorizing and empowering" the county commissioners to appropriate $1,000 for the purpose mentioned. Although one year has passed since the passage of the law, no steps have been taken by the county commissioners to carry out its provisions, and the school board's action, as stated, was prompted by a litter from Mr. Anderson calling atten-tion to the fact that the law has not been emplied with.

The commissioners will probably refuse to make the appropriation, claiming that it is optional and not mandatory with them, in which event, it is said, legal action will be taken by the school board.

Fine Schedule Arranged by Georgetown University.

THE BIG OF THE EAST WILL BE HERE

Yale, Princeton, Harvard and Pennsylvania.

CURRENT SPORTING NEWS

Preparatory work for the coming base ball season at Georgetown University has already begun and shows active progress. The open weather that prevailed for some time during the last two weeks has been taken advantage of, and every day from 1 till 3 o'clock sees the many candidates for the team busily engaged in betting and fielding practice. As a result the winter's stiffness is rapidly disappearing and instead strong and litheful athletes are preparing to contest for supremacy at the various positions. The schedule for the season is an especially fine one, in fact, the best in Georgetown's history, and will give ample opportunity to the Blue and Gray boys of loing battle on the diamond against some of the best college base ball teams in the Promise of a Fine Team. To carry out such a schedule hard and faithful practice must be indulged in. But with the material that has already shown tself, under the careful eye of Captain Me-Carthy, the outlook is very bright. There is promise of one of the best teams Georgeown has yet prescrited.

town has yet prescrited.

With the exception of Maloney, Dowd and Hafford all the old faces are to be seen on the field. Maloney, whose clever work behind the bat was always a cause for applause, and Hafford, the plucky little third baseman, may be missed, but judging from the character of the work put up by the new aspirants for ahose important positions, equal, if not better, playing can be expected.

Among the candidates for the second and the seco expected. Among the candidates for backstop number the following: Hithdell, Cranston, O'Donnell, Kendall and McDonough, all new men. Hindell, who comes from Brown, where he wore the mask and mitt on the 'varsity team, is ably recommended as a sure hitter, good thrower and a strong backstop. Cranston is a Washington by make the Cranston is a Washington boy, where he played on the Central High School team, and is not without reputation. His steady eye, agility and dever headwork remind one of the redoubtable Mahaney (Cronone of the redoubtable Mahoney. O'Don-nell was seen on the field last year as a sub and then gave promise of future possibili-ties, especially at the bat. The Pitching Department. The pitching department this year will be tower of strength to the team. Bach, the old reliable, will again be in the box, where he has so often proved an enigma to so he has so often proved an enigma to so many batsmen. With him are White, the clever left-hander from the Central High School; Kenna, the well-known fullback on Georgetown and star pitcher on Mt. St. Georgetown and star pitcher on Mt. St Mary's team, where his batting was a nota ble feature, and Somers and Gill, both pos sessing strong wings and good control.

First base will most probably be covered by Capt. McCarthy, who filled that position last year with success. Every enthusiast knows the captain's style of ball, and dis-plays the utmost confidence in him. His duplays the utmost confidence in him. His du-ties of captain are increased by those of ceach, but cap, is ready, and will not fail. Fleraming, last year's second baseman, is again out for that position, with Keane and Hirst also contesting. Flemming, whose work in former years has always been up to the mark, has already begun to show his old-time form, and most probably will cover the bag.

At short are Moran, Douglas and McElroy. Moran needs no introduction. His work in that position last year was of the work in that position last year was of the star order. The aspiring successors of Hafford at third are O'Hara, T. Smith, Byrne and Starr. With the exception of Byrne, who played at right part of last year, they are played at right part of last year, they are all new men. All of them cover lots of ground, and can measure off the distance to first in great order. Their work at the bat, though as yet confined to light practice, gives promise of good results.

All of last year's outfielders are again after their positions—Casey, who played left; Downs, center, and Walsh, right. These men are rapid fielders and heavy hitters. The other men seeking positions in Ex-Senator "Jack" Doyle has slipped into the good graces of President Freedman of the New York club, and has developed into a "middleman" for the Glants' owner. Doyla slipped over to Philadelphia yesterday morning, and as a result signed Mike Grady to the New York pay roll at satisfactory terms. Parke Wilson has also been pushed into line by Doyle, and at the pres-ent writing the latter is using his persua-sive powers on "Kid" Gleason and Catcher Warner. Doyle is very popular with a cer-tain class of players, and he has found the contingent to his liking in the New York club. Ten players have drifted into the Giants' fold, and have given it out that they are satisfied with their contracts, but six players, including the great pitching trio-Rusie, Meekin and Seymour-are still outside the barracks, and unless these men agree on terms the New York club would line up in the "false alarm" class. The New York papers are still sore at Freedman, and are "plugging" the game along for the dissatisfied players. A special from Louisville, Ky., says that Claude McFarlan, hailing from that city, has signed to play with the New Yorks the coming season and will report next week. McFarlan will try for an outfield position. Claude has been playing with the Norfolk club for the past three years, and has created a very favorable impression as to ability among the players and managers. McFarlan is a brother of Dan McFarlab, who will probably pitch for Baltimore the coming season, and of Horace McFarlan, formerly an umpire.

DE MONT WILL PLAY AT SECOND. Manager Tom Burns Announces Line-

Up of the Colts. CHICAGO, March fo.-Manager Tom Burns of the Chicago base ball club, who arrived here today to accompany the team to Hudson Hot Springs, N. M., announces several changes in the make-up of the club as it will open the season. DeMontreville, the crack Baltimore short stop, who was traded for "Bill" Dahlen, will play second base instead of the short field; Barry Mc-Cormick will go to that position, Wolver-ton will hold down the third bag and Green, Lange and Ryan will compose the outfield. Connor and Mertes will be retained as utility men. Donohue is expected to bear the brunt of the catching for the first part of the season at least.

With the men in these positions, Manager

Burns says he is confident the team will be in the first four from the start.

On the toss for the move the decision was that the American players at the oddnumbered boards, 1, 3, 5, 7 and 9, were to play black, the British having the white pieces and playing first on these boards. On the eyea-numbered boards the Americans have the first move.
